D LEWIS READY FOR DAVISCOURT MATCH TONIGHT

Big Fellows Will Meet In Finish Go at Tally's Arena—Two Good Preliminary Events Arranged—Indications Point to a Record Crowd

Ed Strangler Lewis and Nick Davis, two of America's foremost contenders for the world's heavyweight wrestling championship, will meet in finish match at Tally's open-air arena tonight, catch-as-catch-can style. Two preliminary events, the first starting at 8 o'clock, have been scheduled. The appearance of Lewis here tonight affords valley fans a rare sports treat. The former title holder is also headed for the highest laurels in the profession and before another year rolls by may again be wearing the crown.

Daviscourt a Worthy Opponent.
In Daviscourt he is meeting an opponent worthy of his steel. The big American has never been in better physical condition than for tonight's encounter, and he has his heart set on victory.

Lewis now holds one victory over Daviscourt, won after two hours and 15 minutes of sensational mat work. His match took place three years ago, Lewis employing his famous headlock as the one-fall verdict.

Incidentally, local fans will be given an opportunity tonight of watching Lewis employ his famed hold, with which he hopes to wrest the heavyweight crown from Joe Stecher. His headlock is considered even more effective than was Frank Gotch's toe hold. Lewis is not a one-hold wrestler, however. He knows all the tricks of the game, from jui-jitsu to catch-as-catch-can style.

Daviscourt has hundreds of followers here who will lend them their moral support in tonight's engagement. Fans who are counting on an easy victory for the stranger have not counted on Daviscourt's great strength and wonderful stamina, they say.

Of course, Daviscourt will enter the ring on the short end of the betting. This is due, however, more to Lewis' reputation than on the merits of the two men.

Men Appear Evenly Matched.

Against common foes in the past few months the men appear as evenly matched as is physically possible. Lewis defeated Dr. John Berg two falls in 17 minutes; Daviscourt turned the trick twice in 18 minutes 35 seconds.

Daviscourt is the only wrestler that ever defeated Pete Sauer in this city. His clean methods on the mat and his gentlemanlike conduct won him a big following here.

The semi-final event tonight is also attracting widespread interest among fans of this city, and especially among those acquainted with the two principals. Young Henderson is scheduled to meet Indian Burns in this event, which will be limited to 30 minutes on the mat. The opening event will be a 30-minute amateur wrestling contest between local boys.

Tickets for the match will remain on sale at the Doyle cigar stand until 8 o'clock tonight, at which hour they will be placed on sale at the arena ticket office, Eighth and Washington streets. Doors to the arena will open at 7 o'clock.

ALUMNI AND COYOTE SQUADS READY FOR CONFLICT SATURDAY

More than 1500 students and alumni of Phoenix union high school participated in the annual "night shirt" parade—the official war dance of the Coyotes—last night. It was in celebration of the coming football game, the annual Alumni-Coyote struggle at Eastlake park Saturday afternoon. The game will be called at 3 o'clock sharp.

It was the biggest turnout in the history of the school, was last night's parade. Traffic in the business section of the city was at a standstill while the students paraded and made merry.

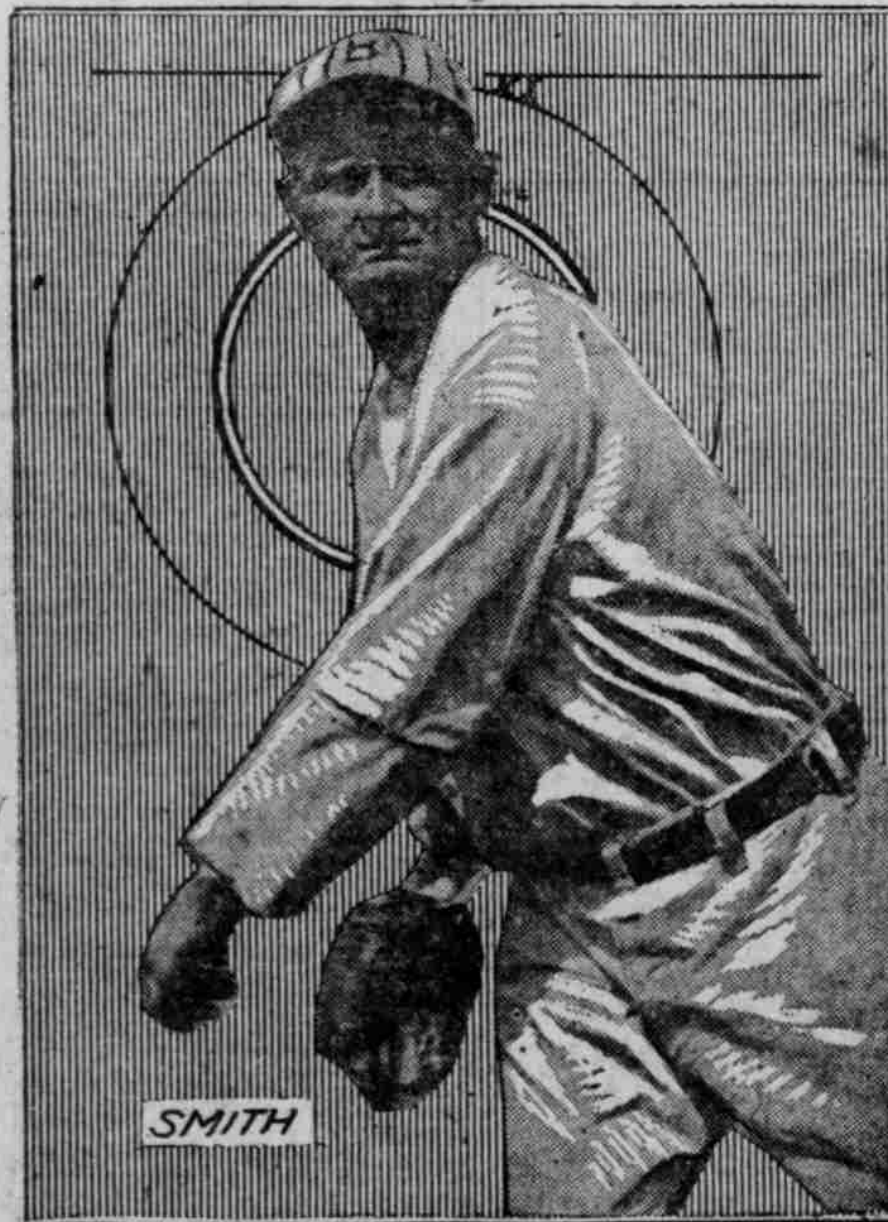

Not in years has there been so much interest in the opening game of the football season. Quite true, considerable rivalry has always existed between the two factions, the "has beens" and the "present day lights," but it has never been so keen. It seems, as this year. This is probably due, however, to the fact that the attendance at the school this fall is larger than ever before, coupled with the presence of thousands of alumni in the city, hundreds of whom had not returned from the service when the big game was played last season.

Both squads are anxiously awaiting the sound of the whistle that will send them into the fray. The Alumni will be represented by the strongest team in recent years. Coach Robinson at the high school is said to have a remarkably fast eleven also, and a good game is assured.
